

Aliases in Schedule A attached hereto (collectively, the “Defendant Internet Stores”). Specifically, Defendants reach out to do business with Illinois residents by operating one or more commercial, interactive Defendant Internet Stores through which Illinois residents can purchase products bearing infringing versions of Plaintiff’s federally registered trademark and copyright.

3. Each of the Defendants has targeted sales from Illinois residents by operating online stores that offer shipping to the United States, including Illinois, accept payment in U.S. dollars and, on information and belief, has sold products that infringe Plaintiff’s federally registered intellectual property. As a result, each of the Defendants is committing tortious acts in Illinois, is engaging in interstate commerce, and has wrongfully caused Plaintiff substantial injury in the State of Illinois.

4. Alternatively, Defendants are subject to personal jurisdiction in this district pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 4(k)(2) because (i) Defendants are not subject to jurisdiction in any state’s court of general jurisdiction; and (ii) exercising jurisdiction is consistent with the United States Constitution and laws.

INTRODUCTION

5. This action has been filed by Plaintiff to combat online e-commerce store operators who trade upon Plaintiff’s reputation and goodwill by selling and/or offering for sale products in connection with Plaintiff’s trademark, which is covered by U.S. Trademark Registration No. 5,805,891 (“the Mark” hereinafter) on July 16, 2019 for use with goods in class 14, including jewelry of alloy metal. The Registration is valid, subsisting, and in full force and effect. A true and correct copy of the federal trademark registration certificate for the Mark is attached hereto as Exhibit One.

6. The stylized and distinctive graphic of the Mark consistent with the depiction in the registration appears below:

7. On November 14, 2022, Plaintiff registered two photographs with the United States Copyright Office and received Registration No. VA 2-330-282. The dual designs depict a cat with an elongated tail, including the trademark design affixed to the center of the cat (hereinafter referred to as “the Long Tail Cat Image”). A true and correct copy of the federal registration record for the Long Tail Cat Image, with a relevant sample, is attached hereto as Exhibit Two. The Registration is valid, subsisting, and in full force and effect.

8. The Defendants create numerous Defendant Internet Stores and design them to appear to be selling genuine Plaintiff's products, while selling inferior imitations of Plaintiff's products. These Defendant Internet Stores often include in their offers for sale either identical or substantially similar images registered in the Long Tail Cat Image and the Mark.

9. In their offers for sale and displays, the Defendant Internet Stores share unique identifiers, such as design elements and similarities of the infringing products offered for sale, establishing a logical relationship between them and suggesting that Defendants' illegal operations arise out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences. Defendants attempt to avoid liability by going to great lengths to conceal both their identities and the full scope and interworking of their illegal operation.

10. Plaintiff is forced to file this action to combat Defendants' copyright infringement of the Long Tail Cat Image and trademark infringement of the Mark and to protect unknowing consumers from purchasing unauthorized products over the internet.

11. Plaintiff has been and continues to be irreparably damaged through consumer confusion, dilution, and tarnishment of its valuable copyright and the Mark. In addition, Plaintiff has been irreparably damaged by the loss of exclusivity of its copyright as a result of Defendants' actions. As a result of these injuries, Plaintiff seeks injunctive and monetary relief.

12. This Court has personal jurisdiction over each Defendant, in that each Defendant conducts business in the United States, in Illinois and in this Judicial District, and the acts and events giving rise to this lawsuit were undertaken in Illinois and in this Judicial District. In addition, each defendant has offered to sell and ship infringing products into this Judicial District.

THE PLAINTIFF

13. Plaintiff Yiwu Baimei Electronic Commerce Co., Ltd., is a Chinese Limited Corporation having its principal place of business at Rm. 206, Unit 6, Bldg. 9, Xijingyuefu, Yi Wu, Zhejiang Province, China 322000.

14. At all times relevant, Plaintiff has marketed and sold jewelry items in Class 14 through the Alibaba, Aliexpress, Amazon, DHgate, eBay, Joom Shein, Temu, Walmart and Wish e-commerce platforms utilizing the Mark. Sales include to the United States, Canada, and United Kingdom, as well as other countries.

15. Plaintiff is the owner of all rights, title and interest in and to the Mark, U.S. Trademark Registration No. 5,805,891. The registration is valid, subsisting, unrevoked and uncanceled. The registration for the Mark constitutes prima facie evidence of validity and of Plaintiff's exclusive right to use the Mark pursuant to 15 U.S.C. § 1057(b).

16. Plaintiff has been using the Mark since December 1, 2018, in connection with the advertising and sale of Plaintiff's Products in interstate and foreign commerce, including commerce in the State of Illinois and the Northern District of Illinois.

17. Plaintiff is the owner of all rights, title and interest in and to the Long Tail Cat Image, U.S. Copyright Registration No. VA 2-330-282. The registration is valid and subsisting. The registration for the copyright images constitutes prima facie evidence of validity and of Plaintiff's exclusive right to use the registered images pursuant to 17 U.S.C. §410.

18. Plaintiff has been using the Long Tail Cat Image since May 28, 2019.

19. The Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image have been widely promoted, both in the United States and throughout the world. Genuine products bearing the Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image are distributed through Plaintiff's internet stores on the Alibaba, Aliexpress, Amazon, DHgate, eBay, Joom, Shein, Temu, Walmart and Wish platforms.

20. Plaintiff utilizes the registered Mark and Long Tail Cat Image in connection with the advertisement, marketing and sale of retail items through Alibaba, Aliexpress, Amazon, DHgate, eBay, Joom, Shein, Temu, Walmart and Wish platforms.

21. Plaintiff controls the content, designs, and images displayed in the Long Tail Cat Image.

22. The Long Tail Cat Image has not been assigned or licensed to any of the Defendants in this matter.

23. The Mark has not been assigned or licensed to any of the Defendants in this matter.

24. Plaintiff's Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image are symbols of Plaintiff's quality, reputation and goodwill and have never been abandoned.

25. Plaintiff has expended substantial time, money and other resources developing, advertising and otherwise promoting the Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image.

26. Each image contained in the Long Tail Cat Image has independent economic value and has generated revenue in relation to the retail items and marketing value depicted therein.

THE DEFENDANTS

27. Plaintiff is currently unaware of the identity and/or location of Defendants. However, on information and belief, Defendants are individuals and business entities who reside in the People's Republic of China or other foreign jurisdictions. Defendants conduct business throughout the United States, including within Illinois and in this Judicial District, through the operation of the fully interactive commercial websites and online marketplaces operating under the Defendant Internet Stores identified in Schedule A.

28. Each Defendant targets the United States, including Illinois, and has offered to sell and/or has sold and/or continues to sell infringing products (“Infringing Products”) to consumers within the United States, including Illinois and in this Judicial District.

29. Each Defendant, without any authorization or license from Plaintiff, has knowingly and willfully used and continued to use Plaintiff’s Long Tail Cat Image and the Mark in connection with advertisement, distribution, display and offering for sale without Plaintiff’s consent or authorization.

30. Each of the Defendants’ online stores offer shipping to the United States, including Illinois. Each Defendant has offered to sell retail items with Plaintiff’s trademark and displayed Plaintiff’s Long Tail Cat Image in the offer for sale

31. On information and belief, Defendants, either individually or jointly, operate one or more e-commerce stores including, and possibly not limited to, those listed in Schedule A attached hereto. Tactics used by Defendants to conceal their identities and the full scope of their operation make it virtually impossible for Plaintiff to learn Defendants’ true identities and the exact interworking of their network. If Defendants provide additional credible information regarding their identities, Plaintiff will take appropriate steps to amend the Complaint.

32. This lack of precise information notwithstanding, it is well established that e-commerce sales, including through e-commerce stores like those of Defendants, have resulted in a sharp increase in the shipment of unauthorized products into the United States. See Exhibit Three, Fiscal Year 2018 U.S. Customs and Border Protection (“CBP”) Intellectual Property Seizure Statistics Report. Over 90% of all CBP intellectual property seizures were smaller international mail and express shipments (as opposed to large shipping containers). Id. Over 85% of CBP seizures originated from mainland China and Hong Kong. Id. Counterfeit and pirated products account for billions in economic losses, resulting in tens of thousands of lost jobs for legitimate businesses and broader economic losses, including lost tax revenue.

33. Further, third party service providers like those used by Defendants do not adequately subject new sellers to verification and confirmation of their identities, allowing counterfeiters to “routinely use false or inaccurate names and addresses when registering with these e-commerce platforms.” See Exhibit Four, Daniel C.K. Chow, Alibaba, Amazon, and Counterfeiting in the Age of the Internet, 40 NW. J. INT’L L. & BUS. 157, 186 (2020). “Combating Trafficking in Counterfeit and Pirated Goods”, prepared by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security’s Office of Strategy, Policy, and Plans (Jan. 24, 2020), attached hereto as Exhibit Five, reports that “at least some e-commerce platforms, little identifying information is necessary for a counterfeiter to begin selling” and recommending that “[s]ignificantly enhanced vetting of third-party sellers” is necessary. The Department of Homeland Security explains how infringers hedge against the risk of being caught and having their websites taken down from an e-commerce platform by preemptively establishing multiple virtual store-fronts. See Exhibit Five at 22. Since platforms generally do not require a seller on a third-party marketplace to identify the underlying business entity, infringers can have many different profiles that can appear unrelated even though they are commonly owned and operated. See Exhibit Five at 39.

34. On information and belief, Defendants have engaged in fraudulent conduct when registering the Defendant Internet Stores by providing false, misleading and/or incomplete information to Internet based e-commerce platforms. On information and belief, certain Defendants have anonymously registered and maintained Defendant Internet Stores to prevent discovery of their true identities and the scope of their counterfeiting and infringement network.

35. On information and belief, Defendants regularly register or acquire new seller aliases for the purpose of offering for sale and selling the Infringing Products. Such seller alias registration patterns are one of many common tactics used by the Defendants to conceal their identities and the full scope and interworking of their counterfeiting and infringement operation, and to avoid being shut down.

36. Even though Defendants operate under multiple fictitious aliases, the e-commerce stores operating as the Defendant Internet Stores often share unique identifiers, such as templates with common design elements. E-commerce stores operating as the Defendant Internet Stores, or other currently unknown aliases, include other notable common features such as use of the same registration patterns, accepted payment methods, check-out methods, keywords, illegitimate search engine optimization (SEO), advertising tactics, the same incorrect grammar and misspellings, and/or the use of the same text and images. Additionally, Infringing Products offered for sale by the Defendant Internet Stores bear similar irregularities and indicia of being counterfeit to one another, suggesting that the Infringing Products were manufactured by and come from a common source and that Defendants are interrelated.

37. On information and belief, Defendants are in constant communication with each other and regularly participate in QQ.com and WeChat chat rooms regarding tactics for operating multiple accounts, evading detection, pending litigation, and potential new lawsuits.

38. Infringers and counterfeiters such as Defendants typically operate under multiple seller aliases and payment accounts so that they can continue operation in spite of Plaintiff's enforcement efforts. On information and belief, Defendants maintain off-shore bank accounts and regularly move funds from their financial accounts to off-shore accounts outside the jurisdiction of this Court to avoid payment of any monetary judgment awarded to Plaintiff. Indeed, analysis of financial transaction logs from previous similar cases indicates that off-shore counterfeiters regularly move funds from U.S.-based financial accounts to off-shore accounts outside the jurisdiction of this Court.

39. On information and belief, Defendants are an interrelated group of infringers and counterfeiters working in active concert to knowingly and willfully manufacture, import, distribute, offer for sale, and sell the Infringing Products in the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences. Defendants, without any authorization or license from Plaintiff, knowingly and willfully used and continue to use the Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image in connection with the advertisement, distribution, offering for sale, and sale of Infringing Products with the display of the Long Tail Long Tail Cat Image and the Mark over the Internet in the United States and this District.

40. In sum, Plaintiff's investigation shows that the telltale signs of an illegal counterfeiting ring are present in the instant action. For example, Schedule A shows the use of store names by the Defendant Internet Stores that have the appearance of being fabricated. Even if a company name appears to be legitimate, review of the Defendant Internet Stores reveals vague or non-existent company descriptions and descriptions of company purpose. Thus, the Defendant Internet Stores are using fake online storefronts designed to appear to be selling genuine Plaintiff's Products while they are actually selling inferior imitations of Plaintiff's Products.

41. Defendants' unauthorized use of the Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image in connection with the advertising, distribution, offering for sale, and sale of Infringing Products, throughout the United States, including Illinois, are likely to cause and has caused confusion, mistake, and deception by and among consumers and is irreparably harming Plaintiff.

DEFENDANTS' UNLAWFUL CONDUCT

42. The success of Plaintiff's registered image and trademark have resulted in their counterfeiting and infringement. Plaintiff has identified numerous domain names linked to marketplace listings on certain platforms including the Defendant Internet Stores, which were offering for sale, selling, and importing counterfeit and/or infringing products to consumers in Illinois, this Judicial District, and throughout the United States. Many of these Defendants also displayed and offered products for sale in Illinois, this Judicial District, and throughout the United States utilizing the copyrighted image without permission.

43. Plaintiff has identified numerous domain names linked to marketplace listings on platforms such as Amazon.com, which were offering, marketing, soliciting, and advertising to consumers in this Judicial District and throughout the United States in a manner that violates Plaintiff's exclusive copyright in the Mark and registered copyright.

44. Upon information and belief, Defendants facilitate sales by designing the Defendant Internet Stores so that they appear to unknowing consumers to be authorized online retailers, outlet stores, or wholesalers selling genuine products. Many of the Defendant Internet Stores look sophisticated and accept payment in U.S. dollars via credit cards and PayPal. Defendant Internet Stores often include images and design elements utilized in the Mark and registered copyright that make it very difficult for consumers to distinguish such counterfeit sites from that of an authorized retailer. Defendants further perpetuate the illusion of legitimacy by offering customer service and using indicia of authenticity and security that consumers have come to associate with authorized retailers.

45. Plaintiff has not licensed or authorized Defendants to use its Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image. None of the Defendants are authorized retailers of genuine products or authorized to display the registered copyright.

46. Upon information and belief, Defendants also deceive unknowing consumers by using the Mark without authorization within the content, text, and/or meta tags of their websites to attract various search engines crawling the Internet looking for websites relevant to consumer searches for Plaintiff's products. Additionally, upon information and belief, Defendants use other unauthorized search engine optimization (SEO) tactics and social media spamming so that the Defendant Internet Stores listings show up at or near the top of relevant search results and misdirect consumers searching for genuine products.

47. Defendants often go to great lengths to conceal their identities and often use multiple fictitious names and addresses to register and operate their massive network of Defendant Internet Stores. For example, to avoid detection, Defendants register Defendant Internet Stores using names and physical addresses that are incomplete, contain randomly typed letters, or fail to include cities or states. Upon information and belief, Defendants regularly create new websites and online marketplace accounts on various platforms using the identities listed in Schedule A to the Complaint, as well as other unknown fictitious names and addresses. Such Defendant Internet Store registration patterns are one of many common tactics used by the Defendants to conceal their identities, the full scope and interworking of their massive counterfeiting operation, and to avoid being shut down.

48. There are also similarities among the Defendant Internet Stores. For example, some of the Defendant websites have virtually identical layouts. In addition, the counterfeit and/or infringing products for sale in the Defendant Internet Stores bear similarities and indicia of being related to one another, suggesting that the counterfeit and/or infringing products were manufactured by and come from a common source and that, upon information and belief, Defendants are interrelated. For example, some Defendants use the same e-commerce platforms as Plaintiff. The Defendant Internet Stores also include other notable common features on the same e-commerce platform, including use of the same domain name registration patterns, unique shopping cart platforms, accepted payment methods, check-out methods, illegitimate SEO tactics, identically or similarly priced items and volume sales discounts, similar hosting services, similar name servers, and the use of the same text and images.

49. Defendants in this case and defendants in other similar cases against online counterfeiters use a variety of other common tactics to evade enforcement efforts. For example, counterfeiters like Defendants will often register new domain names or online marketplace accounts under new aliases once they receive notice of a lawsuit. Counterfeiters also typically ship products in small quantities via international mail to minimize detection by U.S. Customs and Border Protection.

50. Further, counterfeiters such as Defendants typically operate multiple credit card merchant accounts and vendor accounts such as PayPal accounts behind layers of payment gateways so that they can continue operation in spite of Plaintiff's enforcement efforts. Upon information and belief, the foreign Defendants maintain off-shore bank accounts and regularly move funds from their payment accounts to off-shore bank accounts outside the jurisdiction of this Court. Indeed, analysis of payment transaction logs from previous similar cases indicates that offshore counterfeiters regularly move funds from U.S.-based accounts to China-based bank accounts outside the jurisdiction of this Court.

51. Defendants, without any authorization or license from Plaintiff, have knowingly and willfully used and continue to use the Mark in connection with the advertisement, distribution, offering for sale, and sale of counterfeit and infringing products into the United States and Illinois over the Internet. Each Defendant Internet Store offers shipping to the United States, including Illinois, and has offered to sell counterfeit and/or infringing products into the United States, including Illinois.

52. Defendants' use of the Mark and the Long Tail Cat Image in connection with the advertising, distribution, offering for sale, display and sale of counterfeit products, including the sale of counterfeit and infringing products into Illinois, is likely to cause and has caused confusion, mistake, and deception by and among consumers and is irreparably harming Plaintiff.

COUNT I
TRADEMARK INFRINGEMENT AND COUNTERFEITING

53. Plaintiff repleads and incorporates by reference each and every allegation set forth in the preceding paragraphs as if fully set forth herein.

65. By using Plaintiff's trademark in connection with the sale of counterfeit and/or infringing products, Defendants create a false designation of origin and a misleading representation of fact as to the origin and sponsorship of the counterfeit products.

69. The foregoing Defendants' acts constitute a willful violation of the Illinois Uniform Deceptive Trade Practices Act, 815 ILCS § 510, et seq.

70. Plaintiff has no adequate remedy at law, and Defendants' conduct has caused Plaintiff to suffer damage to its reputation and goodwill. Unless enjoined by the Court, Plaintiff will suffer future irreparable harm as a direct result of Defendants' unlawful activities.
